Brief about the Program (Activity/Event)	Computer Engineering Students' Association (COSA) had organized event about the most popularly used Version Control Software in Programming Space i.e Git and Github. It is a platform used to share code written by individual people working on the same project with each other for easier maintenance. It is a very helpful skill to be learnt since this skill is in high demand and is a good practice for all developers to learn about Github. The event began at 1:20pm by the introduction and felicitation of Mr. Akshay Sonavane by the hands of our HOD Prof. Sandeep Shukla Sir. The event featured a basic overview of Git, followed by a hands on session on Github with the help of Github Desktop, a GUI made for ease of access to Git's interface. The event was enjoyed by every student as they got to learn a leading technology apart from the Syllabus. The event concluded at 4:30pm with happy faces of staff, our guest lecturer and all the students.
